MR. AND MRS. ZUPPAN

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Somerville. Six of this family, all descendants of George Washington, are living. The mother of Mrs. Zuppan was a great-grand niece of George Washington and bore the name of Martha Washington.

During the last week, Mrs. Zuppan and her sister, Mrs. J. C. Cheney of Prospect, reported Marion county in the George Washington Bicentennial parade. They were dressed in colonial costumes and were the principal characters on the elaborate Marion county float. While in Columbus they were introduced to Miss Anne Washington, who came from the east to attend the Ohio festivities. Miss Washington also is a great-grand niece of the first president.

Through a favorite nephew of George Washington this branch of the family came into possession of a number of homes of the first president and his wife. Among them are a Masonic apron and silverware, and a snuff box, given to George Washington by Thomas Jefferson.

Mr. and Mrs. Zuppan were married at the bride's home in Marion county, West Virginia by Rev. J. L. Hensley, a United Brethren minister who later became pastor of the United Brethren church in Marion. Shortly after their marriage they moved to a farm in that state, remaining until 1889. Then they came to Marion county, living first near Green Camp and later near Newman's. In 1890 they moved to Richwood where Mr. Zuppan opened a racket store. This store was replaced 17 years ago with a newspaper and magazine agency which he now operates. He has maintained The Star distribution agency in Richwood 15 years.

Mr. Zuppan frequently takes the role of newsboy. He assists his carrier boys in delivering morning papers, often going over the routes himself. Mrs. Zuppan, besides taking care of her household, is active in social, civic and religious activities of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Zuppan are the parents of four children. They are Mrs. Iva P. Sanders of Beaufort, N. C.; Mrs. P. Sanders of Beaufort, N. C.; Mrs. Hazel Spratt of Pontiac, Mich.; and C. V. Zuppan of Richwood.

AUTOS SPEEDING ON STREET, CHIEF TOLD

Fast Drivers on New Paving Warned; 35 Miles an Hour Limit.

With the newly resurfaced East Center street from Baker street to Kensington Place, opened to traffic Saturday night, police yesterday began receiving complaints of speeding drivers from residents of the street.

The state law, it was pointed out by Police Chief W. E. Marks, fixes the speed at which an automobile can be driven in any city at 35 miles an hour and that law is going to be enforced in this city. The chief also said police had received complaints of speeding cars in the vicinity of the Lincoln and Pearl Street school building in the south end of the city, and from other sections of the city.

Every effort is going to be made, the chief said, to apprehend these speeders.

CORRECTION MADE IN GROUP'S BUDGET

Richland Township Trustees Asking for $1,100 Less.

A correction in a budget filed with the county auditor a year ago by the Richland township trustees has disclosed that the trustees are asking for $1,000 less for 1937 than they asked for 1936. Auditor Earl L. Thomas has announced.

The trustees, after making a change in their budget last year, failed to notify the auditor to make a similar change in the copy on file with him. As a result, it was announced in a recent article in The Star that the Richland township request for next year was the same as for this year.

Auditor Thomas made the change when the trustees called it to his attention following the publication of the story. They are asking for $2,500 for 1937.

TOLEDO SHERIFF ACTS TO FORESTALL RIOT

Orders Courthouse Guarded To Prevent Repetition of Monday Disorders.

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO, O., Oct. 18.—While Sheriff Gilson lighted a guard about the Lucas county courthouse today to prevent a repetition of yesterday's riot in the building, organized unemployed workers announced they were forming a new march upon county officials to demand poor relief.

With two men arrested and a number of unemployed and police injured in yesterday's clash, new disorders were threatened with the expected movement of 100 workers.

Yesterday's disorder originated in the courthouse when police and the sheriff's force set out to clear the corridors of men, women and children who gathered in the building to lodge complaints with county commissioners that poor of Washington township were without food.

The crowd was stationed in the second floor corridor at the foot of the main staircase when at the closing hour of the courthouse, the officers expelled them and ordered them to leave.

Mobilizing into a closely packed unit, the demonstrators shouted unwillingness to leave. The police moved forward and the combat started.

Finally the police arrested Lowell Watson, 30, and John Martinez, 26, and dragged them fighting and struggling, across the courthouse lawn to the nearby safety building.

your lungs to every one of the infinite billions of cells scattered through your body. Breathe deep, keep your windows open at night.

AT STOCKHOLM THE AMERICAN Negro play, "Green Pastures," is produced, followed by a crowd that protested against "religious lampoonery."

Any nation not familiar with America's peculiarly varied attitude toward religion might well call that play "religious lampoonery."

The Bible Conqueror—"The Comic Bible"—published in Paris years ago, frankly irreligious, was no worse than "Green Pastures," showing the ruler of the universe as a colored man in a clergyman's costume, offering the angels and archangels a "fish fry" as a celestial treat and saying to the Angel Gabriel, "Watch your step, Gabe."

ALL SORTS of opinions about the depression, "business improving," etc. Everybody is as plentiful as he can be. A pleasantly fresh opinion comes from Theron McCampbell of Holmdel, N. J., representing Monmouth county in the state legislature. In his opinion "the panic has about run its course. But the depression has just begun."

That is too pessimistic, but sensible men realize that the depression must necessarily last a good deal longer and try to adapt themselves to conditions as they are. The rainbow days of 1929 will not come back soon.

U. S. OPENS QUIZ OF COLUMBIA SYSTEM

Gas Company Serving Marion Included in Group Under Study.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Federal Trade commission today opened its investigation into the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation of New York, with Examiner Robert J. Ryder, testifying that its "total assets at Dec. 31, 1928, were $290,654,342 and at Dec. 31, 1930, total assets were $470,618,130, an increase of $179,963,788."

The system served 1,200 communities with a total population in excess of 8,000,000, he said, and in 1930 it served 1,034,211 customers with gas, 316,496 with electricity, and 3,449 with water.

The Columbia system, a Delaware corporation, organized in 1926 from the Columbia Gas and Electric Co. and the Ohio Fuel Co. Ryder testified, has affiliated and subsidiary companies which operate in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, Kentucky and the District of Columbia.

The inquiry is being conducted under authority of the senate order of 1928 for study into various phases of activity by public utilities.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which serves Marion and surrounding territory is a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas & Electric Corp. of New York.

BUCKING LINE FOR HOOVER

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Despite the University of Chicago board of trustees' action in setting the date for A. A. Stagg's retirement, Marion freshmen football men want him to coach next season.

The board announced that the 70-year age limit for faculty members made necessary Stagg's retirement at the end of the college year next June. Members of the freshmen squad, however, yesterday started petitions around, asking that the grand old man be engaged as head football coach and the move immediately caused the support of several fraternities.

While Stagg may not under the rules, continue as a member of the faculty, he may be hired as football coach, which the petition requests be done. The petition will be presented to the board of trustees and President Robert Maynard Hutchins within a few days.

HOOVER FRAMING DETROIT ADDRESS

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Hoover is framing his Detroit campaign speech, considering the while just where to make rear platform appearance on his third mid-western trip next week-end.

His decision to speak Saturday night in the Michigan center of the automotive industry was announced at the White House a day after the President's return from Cleveland where he discussed employment and the wage matter. The subject of the Detroit address was not disclosed, however.

Not that any definite decision on other presidential plans of the Republican nominee made public. He will return to the White House immediately after his Detroit address. Then Republican leaders here look for a swing along the Atlantic seaboard topped by a New York or New Jersey speech.

Next in order is the possibility of a journey into the west. Mr. Hoover still is considering requests that he travel to his Palo Alto home just before election day. Only yesterday, Secretary Mills returned from a transcontinental political trip to say that California "want" Mr. Hoover to come there.

The treasury chief brought to the chief executive forecasts of victory at the polls. He said he told the President there was "a swing" toward him that would mean his reelection.

President Hoover will leave Friday night for Detroit. Meanwhile, a message advocating the reelection of Mr. Hoover went out from Detroit to all Ford Motor Co. employees.

The company submitted for the consideration of its men a belief that "any break in his program would hurt industry."

Dickinson Leads Record of Hooper

By The Associated Press
In the opinion of Senator J. J. Dickinson, Republican of Iowa, the voters, Nov. 8, must choose between "President Hoover and security, or the Democrats and destruction."

Senator Dickinson spoke at Youngstown last night while Attorney General Gilbert S. Bennett, and George H. Bender, candidate for congressman-at-large, addressed meetings in Hamilton and Cleveland, respectively.

The Youngstown audience was told by Senator Dickinson that the Republican party "has presented a unified front through the leadership of President Hoover. Its program has been constructive. Whatever hope there is in tomorrow, is due to the fact that this program is in the process of execution."

Bettman, candidate for United States senator, told the Hamilton meeting that the current of political opinion is shifting toward the Republican party. A survey of sentiment in northern Ohio, he said, has revealed a decided trend toward President Hoover and the United States Republican ticket.

Bender told the Cleveland audience that "the most real accomplishment more humanity than President Hoover."

Bulkeley Hits Hoover Speech

By The Associated Press
The Cleveland speech of President Hoover was attacked by U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkeley in a campaign speech at Tiffin, last night, as having treated "with studied vagueness" the most important measures the administration has taken.

Senator Bulkeley and Governor George White spoke on the same program.

President Hoover's speech re-stated, the senator said, a comprehensive list of the measures that constitute his program. "This authoritative list makes it absolutely clear that the administration does not claim to have initiated a single measure which looks to curing the 'troubles'."

Governor White answered charges of his Republican opponent, David S. Ingalls, that $5,000,000 had been "borrowed from the state highway funds to pay general state operating expenses in 1931, and that 'the governor will have to say that five millions somehow'."

Instead of borrowing $5,000,000, the governor said, $2,000,000 was transferred temporarily last year, but every cent was returned by the end of the year.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Despite the University of Chicago board of trustees' action in setting the date for A. A. Stagg's retirement, Marion freshmen football men want him to coach next season.

The board announced that the 70-year age limit for faculty members made necessary Stagg's retirement at the end of the college year next June. Members of the freshmen squad, however, yesterday started petitions around, asking that the grand old man be engaged as head football coach and the move immediately caused the support of several fraternities.

While Stagg may not under the rules, continue as a member of the faculty, he may be hired as football coach, which the petition requests be done. The petition will be presented to the board of trustees and President Robert Maynard Hutchins within a few days.

DANDRUFF Ends Overnight!

There is one sure way that breaks down to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. The dandruff is entirely dissolved. To do this, just get plain, ordinary liquid ammonia. Apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp, and rub it in gently with the fingertips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign of dandruff. You can get liquid ammonia at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents. This simple remedy never fails.—Ady.

My Beauty Hint

BY MIRIAM HOPKINS

CLEANLINESS is important in keeping the hair healthy and attractive. It does not believe in too many washings but a dry shampoo will keep the hair dust-free.

When dry hair becomes difficult to manage before the next water shampoo is due—I try an egg-white remedy.

The whites of two eggs are beaten until stiff. The mixture then is applied to the hair and scalp and rubbed in. After the egg-white dries for 20 minutes, the hair is brushed and combed vigorously. As the dried egg-white flakes off, it carries with it the surplus dust and oil and leaves the hair—clean, fluffy, and still curly.

"Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home" Nov. 22. No Coughing! No Dry!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any drugstore, get 2½ cents of Pipe, pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated malt syrup made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water stirred a few minutes until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Then you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love to take.

This simple mixture soothes and breaks the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the green-yellow phlegm and clears clean passages in a way that is really astonishing.

Flies is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Spruce, the most reliable medicine against for severe cough. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Judgment on Judges.

One of the resolutions adopted by the American quired the senate to be an opposition to confirmation

It is the duty of the senate when considering an appointment to pass upon the qualifications of the man. Those qualifications can be determined most easily by examination of his record. There is no other way.

Usually it happens that the same record will be viewed favorably by one part of the senate and unfavorably by another. As happened not so long ago, an appointee may be ruled out by a senator or senators because they happen to dislike him personally.
 The President, making a judicial appointment, must be assumed to have examined the appointee's record and reached a conclusion. But his conclusion represents only one opinion. There are 100 opinions in the senate to be blended.

When announcement of the appointment is made, every organization dedicated to protection of its principles immediately scans the appointee's record for action bearing on those principles. If a decision contrary to their preservation and increasing strength has been made, minority pressure immediately is brought to bear upon members of the senate, with the inevitable result that no man vigorously opposed by any minority group can be elevated to a federal judgeship. Supreme court justices are subject to the same processes of selection.

It is inimical to independence of the judiciary, obviously, worse than that. It is an abnormality of representative democracy. But what can the American Bar association or any other organization do about it?

Censoring Would Do It.

The world most pumber among the "impossible" things it may have a chance to see the result of Germany's former Kaiser from his home in neutral Holland. The German situation can not be discussed without mention of Kaiser Wilhelm, himself, has admitted that he would return to his job if the German people were to request his services.

There is, of course, nothing unusual in such a statement. The man who upset the world in the second decade of this century never has admitted that he is willing to abandon what he believes to be his proper station in Germany. He has convictions as strong as those who forced him to flee precipi-tately before their wrath.

The factor in the prospect is the probability that Wilhelm would interpret an invitation by the von Papen government as an invitation from the people, presumably because if the existing government could get into a position to restore the monarchy only by establishing public opinion behind it. A spokesman for the British government is of the opinion, however, that "the former Kaiser's departure is thinkable only in the event of a revolution."

Who would have dared to predict during the fantastic days of democracy at the close of the World war that there would be dreams of German monarchy so soon after establishment of the republic?
 Then, an one doubted that the sacrifice of tens of thousands of lives and the devastation of an important section of Europe had made the world safe for government by the people. Perhaps nothing worse can be said, in reflection, than that Americans are easy believers.

Gurner on the Stump.

In a quiet, sometimes slumbering speech softened by his Texas drawl, John N. Gurner set out to convince radio-listeners last Friday night that he has been painted wider and woolier than he is—that he is, in all matters of fact not wild and woolly at all, but only a shrewd congressman from Texas. To his position as speaker of the house of representatives he assigned importance second only to that of the presidency. To President Hoover he ascribed all the evils of the times, whitewashing himself completely.

His first campaign appearance was an important development of the campaign. His silence, hitherto, after he had been hailed by Democrats during pre-convention days as another Abraham Lincoln, was hard to understand. Republicans were justified in claiming that he was being murdered by his party, whose principal objective in the campaign is to down his record for dangerous notoriety.

The summarized Gurner, consequently, was obliged to play safe by confining his remarks to what he changes are mistakes of the Hoover administration.
 He did not like the leader of the Democratic ticket, try to appeal to voters with a recitation of his ideas.
 It was his one to launch into a recital of his ideas.

It probably will be the speaker's function during the remainder of the campaign to do his fighting at a point which Republican forces have been hammering at successfully—the record of the Democratic House of Representatives during the long session of Congress. Governor Roosevelt, wisely, has sketched out a plan for the record, presumably because he can find no defense for it. If it is to be defended, Mr. Gurner is the man for the job. He should know why it was that his party's legislature failed to do up to their representation as a legislative majority more than any other man knows what prompted him to propose the nation's greatest single plague of pork barrel legislation. If there be any credible explanations he can give them.

Colonel Ralph D. Cole.

Thousands of acquaintances and friends of Colonel Ralph D. Cole do not want to yield to their certain knowledge that he is dead. Tragedy's blow has snatched them, momentarily.

Best in living was one of the colonel's many attractive characteristics. He had that extra store of ambition which enables one man in 10,000 to rise above his fellow men. He had, also, that extra polish to personality which enabled him to stand in the leader's position with the hearty support of all his followers.

Ohio knows him as a politician, lawyer and soldier.
 It admires him as a success in all three. His citizens, regardless of party, loved to hear him talk. They liked the quality of his thinking and the fairness of his methods. They do not care that he was not always successful in his political contests, because they know, and they believe he knew, that he was successful as a citizen who possessed unusual qualitifications for service.

At his death he was commander of the Ohio department of the American Legion. As an officer in the expeditionary force he was one of the group responsible for formation of the Legion. Ohio veterans counted themselves fortunate in having a claim to the leadership of a man so eminently qualitified. To a special degree they feel the blow of his untimely death.

England Breaks Away.

There is always a temptation to make unreasonable comparisons between two dissimilar things considered to be of great importance. For the sake of a comment, consider the English gold standard and English clothing.

The gold standard is, by all accounts, one of the most important things in the world today. It is not even talked about in ordinary tones; perhaps that is because so few people can talk about it without being awed by their own ignorance.

But to a vast number of Englishmen and Englishwomen the gold standard, for all its breath-taking importance, is probably as nothing compared with the question of wearing apparel. The proportion of direct interest felt is probably the same as that felt by nine out of ten Americans when considering their clothing and the intricacies of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. at the same moment.

It is, therefore, a fact of general importance to all people who wear clothes, who buy them, sell them or design them that the Englishman has joined hands with women of the United States and is breaking away from the dictation of Paris style experts.
 An information to shatter or preserve the foundation of civilization it may or may not be important. As information having to do with the personal interests of millions of women in both countries who pay more attention to clothes than to momentous matters of international relationship and domestic well-being it is of paramount importance. So much for importance.

With at least the moral support of London the United States style designers who have been getting their ideas ready-made from Paris may be able to find out in their own heads once in a while. Of more importance to them, they may be able to find a market for it, without sending it to Paris for approval. As for London, the first thing seems to be to find out where Queen Mary gets those remarkable hats. If they are Paris creations, that should hasten the split. If they are empire products, perhaps it would be best to stick to Paris a while longer.

Comment of the Press.

No longer will it be possible for a self-supporting student from some foreign country to earn his way by working while attending some American college or university.

The United States department of labor has ruled that students who come as visitors from foreign countries to attend American colleges, and must earn a part of their expenses while here, will be denied entry into this country.

The Boston Transcript is very critical of the new ruling. It says:
 "Since the world war the worth and authority of American institutions of learning have come to be recognized, and the need to obtain training here has been more and more felt among the young men of Europe, South America and other continents. . . .
 Yet just at this time, when the United States is rising above its former status as a province in the realm of education and is gaining dominion, the department of labor would turn from our shores any visiting student who must earn a few dollars while he is here, even though this necessity only goes to show the earnestness of his purpose in coming here."

Of course, there are two ways of looking at this question. The Transcript is undoubtedly right when it looks at the matter from the broad view of educational opportunity. But there are unusual times and it is necessary to adopt unusual measures.
 Every student from a foreign country who must work his way through an American university or college is depriving some American-born student of so many opportunities of improving his position. We believe that when times are better and there is work for all, the department of labor will see its way clear to rescind its order barring self-supporting foreign students.—Toledo Blade.

TENTED PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

"Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil," is an appeal in the model prayer Christians have been repeating for nearly twenty centuries.
 Events each year picture plainly the need indicated by the appeal as the destruction wrought when humanity yields to temptation and is not delivered from evil. Just now the picture shows a lot of officials in places of trust to public and private service who have been exposed as embezzlers of funds.

For the past year the list is startlingly extended.
 Many who have fallen have climbed high, enjoyed established reputation, good name, and the confidence of their communities. They had been leaders in many good works. They risked all they had and represented in one mad rush to win a fortune quickly by methods that violated moral and statutory requirements. The lure of money brought them into the realm of temptation, and they lacked strength of character to withstand the strain. They played with fire and were destroyed just as the insect and human moths have been destroyed under similar conditions through all the centuries. They were victims of their own stupidity in thinking they could play with pitch and not be defiled.

Representatives of the federal government, states, counties, cities, churches and educational institutions are among the victims. The list can not be studied without a feeling of horror that as much of honor, reputation, and such vast sums of money have been sacrificed to man's unbridled greed. Money lost can be replaced. Honor lost is gone. Good name can not be rebuilt.

There is comfort in the fact that only a small percentage of men trusted have failed. The great army of others stands clean-handed. They were delivered from evil.—Ohio State Journal.

TIP-ON BY MISPLACED TRUST.

So live that if you ever run for office, there will be no about you; not that they wouldn't stretch, but it takes more work to think up something.—Ohio State Journal.

Only Way To Prove Pernicious Anemia.

Pernicious anemia was at one time a dreaded and fatal disease.
 Within recent years discovery of the curative value of liver has changed the prospect, for the use of liver and other important foods has helped to make possible the cure of pernicious anemia.

This is a disease of the blood, but its real cause has never been discovered. In this disorder there is a destruction of the red cells of the blood, and the blood becomes thin and watery. Not only is there a reduction in the number of red blood cells, but a loss of coloring matter as well.

The patients are pale in appearance, listless, and have no desire to eat. Though they may be extremely weak, there is no marked loss of weight. Swelling of the feet and shortness of breath upon slight exertion are common signs. Faintness and dizziness occur as the disease progresses.

As a rule, there are digestive disturbances which are frequently overlooked. Such symptoms as indigestion, "biliousness" and severe diarrhea are often definite signs of the trouble.

Pernicious anemia is misleading because it runs in cycles. The afflicted person improves greatly and for a short time may be decidedly better in health. This favorable state of health may last for several months, only to be followed by a relapse. As time goes on the periods of partial recovery become less frequent and of shorter duration.

The diagnosis of the disease is usually made by what is called the "blood count." In this test the actual destruction of the red blood cells and the decrease in the coloring matter can be determined. The condition may be confused with a more simple form of anemia, but only by means of this test that the presence of pernicious anemia can be accurately determined.

For many years diet was believed to be the only means of curing pernicious anemia, and the diet was planned to increase meats and other proteins. Vegetables and milk were recommended, also strict control of the foods and complete rest in bed, but with little success in combating this disorder.

Since the discovery that liver is of extreme value in the treatment of pernicious anemia, great strides have been made in its mastery. The liver has been found to multiply red blood cells four or five times, and in addition the general health of the individual has been decidedly improved within a period of from one to three months.

Fresh liver is often difficult to obtain. For it may be substituted certain recommended liver extracts.
 One of these is in the form of a powder that may be sprinkled over the food. Research is now being carried on in an effort to make a highly concentrated liver extract which can be injected into the tissues. When perfected, this method will be economical, easy to administer and more rapid in its action.

Never make your own diagnosis of anemia and certainly do not attempt to prescribe for yourself.
 Merely because you are pale and tired easily does not mean you are anemic. The diagnosis and treatment of this disease are highly technical and should only be undertaken by your physician, who is trained for this work.

FIRST TEACHERS COLLEGE

The first movement in Ohio for a teachers college resulted in the founding of "the Western Literary Institute and college of professional teachers," at Cincinnati. "It was the direct outgrowth of a meeting of teachers in Cincinnati, Wednesday, Oct. 3, 1822.

Here are some of the lecture courses, as outlined in the first catalogue:

"The Rev. R. P. Aydelotte, introducing the Bible into the public schools; Professor Bauman, philosophy of letters as a question of moral interest; Rev. Lyman Beecher, importance of making the business of teaching a profession; Prof.
 Biggs, domestic science; Hon. R. B. Bishop, difficulties in governing a college; Mass. Butler, qualifications of a teacher; Rev. Alexander Campbell, value of moral and intellectual culture; E. E. Coddard, history of mathematical science; Hon. T. B. O'Brien, importance of rejecting the classics and mathematics from a general course in education; W. Hopwood, A. M., on best methods of teaching languages; E. D. Mansfield, the study of mathematics. Not one woman's name appeared on the list of lectures.

INSIGHT HELPS

A 2-year-old boy returned home from a few weeks' visit at his aunt's to find that a baby sister had arrived in his home. He was genuinely delighted until he saw her in his mother's arms. Then he burst into bitter tears.

For more than a week, despite the fact that mother showed him every tenderness and played much with him, he was deeply unhappy.
 Then he became quieter, contenting himself with hovering over his mother as she held the baby and now and then murmuring to himself, "Bobby mustn't hit little sister—no, mustn't!"

After a time this phase too passed and he became apparently wholeheartedly fond of the baby who at first had caused him so much grief.

Only one difficulty remained.
 Bobby when visiting or traveling always was loath to return home.
 Each time it required great tact and persuasion to get him to go back. And each time after his return he behaved in a most unkind way to the little sister with whom he had now become such good friends.

For three years this difficulty persisted. One day when the children asked for a story, mother understood to tell them in full detail just what had happened the day Bobby first saw his little sister.
 Both children listened with absorption.

Shortly after, Bobby went to visit another boy and coming home early, joined his mother and sister, who were in the garden. Instead of greeting them in a merry manner as he did usually when he returned home, he walked up to his sister, kissed her on the cheek and laughed in a happy manner.

Giving the child insight into such disappointments frequently frees him from the conflicts they engender.

Public Opinion

FOR CHIEF LEVY.

Editor, The Star:
 Regarding the two (2) mill levy as proposed by the city council, it appears to me that any one who knows facts regarding the financial condition of the city can't resist the facts, can't consistently object to it, or find fault with this request.

The statute plainly says, "the city must take care of its poor." The city now is feeding approximately 800 families, averaging this number with four to a family, you can at once see the tremendous task and obligation resting upon the city and the administration.

In addition to this, also, is coal, in order to keep this population warm, shoes, both new and repaired, clothing, all kinds and class, a vital service, etc.

Relief September cost the city approximately $4,000. The winter months will cost considerably more.
 Many are making a lot of noise about high taxes, but do they realize that the majority voted for and demanded, better disposal plant, city hospital, trunk line sewer, airport, street improvements, sewers, sidewalks and other improvements, so that the bonded indebtedness, with interest, takes the greater per cent of all tax money received. The public has demanded and now the voter must be paid. Please consider, there is no one business or duty more than that of every voting individual and citizen. If you have not yet registered, making it possible for you to vote on Nov. 3, do so today, since Oct. 13 is the last day for registering, go to the board of election rooms, over the Marion Building, Services & Loan Co. and do this. Then vote for the two (2) mill levy and help take care of the unfortunate friend and neighbor.
 Vote YES.

Europe Day by Day

BY G. O. MINTRE.

London, Oct. 13.—There's sharp realization that the narrow minded English of pre-war days is on its way out. Nothing specific for such calculations, it's just in the air.
 Somehow you sense an increased insolence in the "very good, sir" of lift and cabmen.

Socialists wield power. Labor is in the Cabinet and hide-bound Tories garrumph glumly from club windows. Yet without, no other city has so retained the traditional pride. I went forth before breakfast, threading the noisy Strand to Trafalgar and loitered near the Nelson monument.

London was going to work—plodding, not rushing, it displays no enthusiasm for daily routine and the mechanics of existence.
 Factories and offices are so much stuff. The Englishman is a born putterer, a rider of hobbies. He regards the city with lumpy impudence as enervating.

His call is for the village and its meadows, the woods, the lanes and their flowers. His fields station in dining among his gardens, raising dog-eats, horses or lingering along the countryside listening to the chirp crickets. One has the everlasting impression of excellent breeding.

It is said fear built the first city, inspired by the instinct to herd behind protecting walls. London somehow illustrates some vague terror. Millions pour into it daily to snatch material profits that will permit them to flee away from it Or so it appears.

The first question for every visitor "Have you seen Noel Coward's 'Cavalcade'?" We attended a matinee, the drama of England, its defeats and triumphs in stirring pageantry. There are moments of poignancy when the eyes swim, yet I found myself murmuring: "What a nation!" The play got away to a flying start when the King and Queen attended the opening. Because of a belief it concealed a wobbling loyalty, it is likely Coward will be knighted.

Klein Chosen Most Valuable Player in National League

PHIL RIGHT FIELDER NOSES OUT WARNEKE OF CHICAGO BRUINS

Quaker City Star Amassed Flock of Records During Last Season.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—As the climax of his steady rise, Charles Herbert (Chuck) Klein of Philadelphia, cleanup outfielder of the Philadelphia Nationals today emerged as the choice of the baseball experts for the distinction of being the National league's most valuable player during the 1930 season.

Klein was third in the 1930 voting and runner-up last year in the balloting by a committee representing the Baseball Writers' Association of America. His selection was announced by J. Roy Stockton of St. Louis, chairman of the committee.

The Philadelphia right-fielder won the honor from Lonnie Warneke, the Chicago Cubs' sensational freshman pitcher, and Frank (Lefty) O'Doul of Brooklyn, league batting champion.

Klein secured 76 votes out of a possible 80. He was the first choice of six and second choice of the remaining two members of the writers' committee. Warneke, first choice of two critics, was next with 56 points. O'Doul finished with 54. Paul Waner of the Pirates and Rugg Stephenson of the Cubs, with 37 and 32 respectively, completed the top five.

Frank Elyash, the 1931 winner, received only three points, one less than the young St. Louis pitcher, Dime Dean Hack Wilson of Brooklyn, 1930 selection, collected six points.

Klein hung up a fine record in every offensive department, besides showing speed and skill on the defense. He finished third in the National league batting race with .346, tied with Mel Ott for home run leadership with 23, led both leagues in run-scoring with 154, drove in 124 runs and stole 20 bases.

Twenty-four players were mentioned in the balloting, in which each of eight writers listed 10 candidates, in the order of preference. The points were figured on the basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, etc.

Here's List of Most Valuable Players

Baseball Magnates Quickly Deny Rumor of Four-Team Swap

Boston, New York, Chicago, Cincinnati Connected with Reported Trade.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—That half million dollar baseball trade, rumored by Boston way, had drawn a string of denials from every interested party today and left the seven players said to be involved, exactly where they were before the report was published.

The rumor, as printed in a Boston evening paper, said the deal, still in the making, involved four National league clubs—the Chicago Cubs, Boston Braves, Cincinnati Reds and New York Giants.

Figuring in the impending four-cornered swap, the paper said, were Hazen Cuyler, Pat Malone and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, Frank Hognan and Freddy Lindstrom of the Giants, Wally Berger of the Braves and Floyd (Dabe) Herman of the Reds. Eventually, the report said, Berger and Herman would land with the Giants, Lindstrom and Hognan with the Cubs, Cuyler and Hartnett with the Braves, and Malone with the Reds.

All four clubs wasted no time getting into print with denials that any such involved trade was in the making. All said they were in the market for players to strengthen weak spots, as they always are, but added they knew nothing of any spectacular four-cornered player exchange.

Charles F. Adams, vice president of the Braves and his club was seeking to strengthen its roster and that President Emil Fuchs and Manager Phil McKelvie were scouting around for new material.

William L. Veck of the Cubs said the Cubs have not talked with anyone about trading Malone, Hartnett and Cuyler and would not unless plenty was offered in exchange.

Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, said he knew nothing of the trade but indicated that Herman might be traded before the 1931 season opens.

Bill Terry, manager of the Giants denied there was any trade pending involving his club.

Chuck Klein, pictured above, the cleanup outfielder of the Philadelphia Nationals today emerged as the choice of the baseball experts for the distinction of being the National league's most valuable player during the 1930 season.

WILDCATS TO MEET PURDUE SATURDAY IN FEATURE OF BIG TEN

Michigan Must Find New Backfield Combination for Illinois Conflict.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Northwestern will be equipped with a lot of faith and hope when it meets Purdue at Evanston Saturday, but there will be no charity.

At least there will be no voluntary charity, for it was a charity game last season that did Northwestern out of an undisputed Big Ten football title. And Purdue happened to be the team that did the Purple and dispensed all the charity they could afford in the Michigan game, when fumbles along the Wolverines' line helped to get a little something for themselves.

Michigan, the big favorite for the title, has troubles of its own. Two extremely useful halfbacks, Stanley Kay, and Jack Hinton, suffered serious injuries in the Ohio State battle and will be out of business for a long time. Coach Harry Kijke has plenty of backs, but must do some juggling to locate the most effective combination in time for the Illinois game this week.

Illinois is a source of downright worry to Chicago. The Maroon offense was erratic last week and the Hoosiers showed enough to make them favorites for Saturday's decision. Minnesota and Iowa are experimenting with lineups for Saturday and Wisconsin is looking for this week's game with Coe at the Ohio State battle a week hence.

Ohio battered in the Michigan defeat may face Pittsburgh with out Quarterback Carl Cramer, whose knee injury is bothering him again.

Fred Tashy, Brunswick center fielder, helped his team beat Dallas in the Texas league play off by hitting .538 for the series.

W. F. MacMillan, secretary of the St. Paul American association club, thinks the major leagues are coming back to playing managers.

GRINS from the GRID

BY O. W. "RED" SEVERANCE
(Written for The Associated Press)

BACK in 1926 the series play was making football history and Coach Charlie Bachman at Northwestern had perfected a truly unique one for the season's finale against Rutgers that "couldn't miss."

The key man was to be "Jim" one of the greatest halfbacks Northwestern ever turned out but who always had a most difficult time remembering signals.

On the first down "Jim" was to carry the ball over right tackle and be "knocked out."

And as sympathetic Rutgers lineemen stood around waiting for him to revive, Northwestern was to line up hurriedly and the ball would be snapped for a wide end run without calling signals.

The team practiced diligently and rehearsed every detail time after time. The referee was warned to watch for the play and in the third quarter of the Rutgers game an opportunity presented to turn the play into a touchdown.

The quarterback barked out the series play signals and everything started perfectly, with "Jim" gaining three yards over right tackle on the first down.

Northwestern lined up quickly—only to find "Jim" standing in his accustomed position at left half, a wide grin on his face over the three-yard gain.

The awful stillness warning him that something was amiss "Jim" suddenly remembered the second part of the play, dropped to the ground and screamed:

"O-o-o-o! I'm hurt!"

The referee blew his whistle, and the second part of the "sure fire" series still remains to be played.

Bowling Statistics

Mrs. Hazel Clapadiddle set the pace last night for the Women's Recreation bowling league by turning in both the high single-game score and high three-game total. Mrs. Clapadiddle rolled 132 in her first game of the evening for the highest one-game total. She dropped off considerable in the next two games but still managed to rack up a total of 482, which is just 35 points more than her nearest competitor Mrs. Margaret Porter. Mrs. Porter rolled a 454 score. Mrs. Ida Fitzhugh rolled 130 for second high single-game score.

Team No. 1, of which Mrs. Clapadiddle is a member, rolled the highest three-game team score for the evening with a much 1,000. Team No. 8 was next with 1,044.

A representative team of Marion bowlers made the short trip to the city of absorbing a beating from an all-star Bucyrus team. Marion collected 2,746 pins but Bucyrus topped 3,043 of the maple Sam Sharrock topped the Marion bowlers with a 500 for the three games but two Bucyrus men topped this effort. Marion's failure to get started in the first game was costly. The local players took the second and third starts but their low score in the first game kept them from taking the match.

Graham Leads Scorer

WITH the football season at just about the half way point, Ralph Graham, Kansas State's fleet fullback, has jumped into a six-point lead in the race for the individual scoring crown of the nation. Graham has romped across enemy goal lines for 11 touchdowns and has added six extra points. His nearest opponent is Bush of Massachusetts State.

Doh Monnett, the Bucyrus boy who does plenty of halfbacking for Michigan State is making another series bid for the scoring title this season. Monnett, you may recall, finished well up among the leaders last year. He led all season but lost out at the last as Cambridge of West Liberty Teachers college snared him out by a wide scoring margin in the final game of the year. Monnett has 44 points so far and is leading the scorers of the mid-west.

In the Ohio collegiate scoring column Wright of Wittenberg and Gilliland of the University of Cincinnati are leading the pack, each with six touchdowns for 36 points. Wright held undisputed lead until the Wittenberg team crashed into Ohio Wesleyan last Saturday and failed to score a point. Gerry of Dayton is third in the Ohio race with 32 points.

Below is listed the leading scorers in the national and Ohio college races.

PITT STARTS WORK FOR BUCKEYE CLASH

Sutherland Fears Ohio Backs About Ready To Break Loose.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16.—"The Buckeyes are tough!" That's what Coach Jack Sutherland of the University of Pittsburgh is saying as he brings the Panthers for Saturday's grid clash with Ohio State. In fact, he warned his charges during yesterday's workout that the Buckeyes "are about ready to break loose and go places."

Put the Bucks don't feel so tough. They haven't recovered from last Saturday's near-breaking defeat at the hands of Michigan, and Coach Sam Williamson plans a week of grueling practice in preparation for the journey to Pitt.

The bright spot in the O. S. U. dugout is the fact the team emerged from the Michigan game without injury. This fact strengthens Buckeyes' hopes for an even chance to turn back the powerful, undefeated Pittsburgh eleven.

Except for the possibility that he might place Olinpant in Cramer's place at quarterback, Williamson indicated his line-up would be unchanged for the Pitt game. A scrimmage with a freshman team using Panther tricks was planned today.

RED LYON ADDED TO MASKED WRESTLER'S LIST OF VANQUISHED

Hooded Matman Pins Coast Star After Tough Battle at Shovel.

That mysterious figure of the Marion mat still reigns supreme although the moment of unveiling his masked features was nearly at hand last night.

The identity of the Masked Marvel remained unknown when he defeated Red Lyon in the main event of last night's wrestling card. Lyon gave the Marvel a tough battle before he finally lost two falls.

The famous arm stretch that gave the mysterious one his victory over his first opponent in the local ring gave him his first fall in 19 minutes last night. Lyon attempted to lock his opponent's arm behind his back but was unable to get to far.

The Masked Marvel apparently suffers from some side injury, for he couldn't take the slams. A series of flying headlocks gave Lyon the second fall in 26 minutes.

In the third fall the man of mystery successfully fought off every attempt of Lyon to do a little slugging. Unable to make progress in this direction Lyon resorted to flying tackles and butting. The result in his defeat for he was pinned in 11 minutes for the Marvel converted one of the attempted butts into a back drop.

Frankie Wolff, the Australian circus performer, had the crowd in an uproar when he defeated Tommy Williams in the semi-final bout. Wolff won one fall in 11 minutes with a cradle hold. Wolff took on the role of the tough and bad man while the fans threatened to mob him.

In the preliminary Claude Samdett and Chuck Nelson wrestled 20 minutes to a draw.
